Bangkok. On the 4th August, found that the boat was making no headway, owing to a consequence of her bottom having been injured some time previous. Worked the pumps dry for four days and found and came up 120 lbs of iron and determined to beat up for Hongkong, arriving at 3 p.m. on the 12th August. Ship was high thirteen inches an hour, while at anchor it is the harbour.

The British steamer "Shanghai," from Glasgow April 19th, reports having had a gale of wind off the West Coast of Ireland on 16th, 20th, and 21st April, during which the starboard lifeboat was blown overboard and washed away. Sixteen Mena (8 miles distant) on the 26th of April crossed the line on the 17th May in 10 m. 22 s.
West. Passed the meridian of the Tropic of Cancer on the 14th inst., and upwards after leaving India in Yumbala Bay, the Chinese Maine Java on the 26th of July, and arrived at Swatow on the 24th July, afterwards to the China sea and back to Hongkong, where she arrived on August the 2nd, when the weather became threatening, and the buoyoner left. On the 3rd August the Shanghai lay off and flew on with the wind shifting from N.E. to S.W., and on 5th, afterwards had moderate winds to drive
